The Presenters

Trevor Cooper

Trevor has been qualified as a Solicitor for over 30 years and is widely regarded as a leading lawyer in England & Wales who specialises in civil and criminal cases involving dogs. He is the principal of Cooper & Co Solicitors.

Trevor represents and advises both dog owners and professionals, and acted in his first dog case 25 years ago. He is the Doglaw Consultant for Battersea Dogs & Cats Home and is retained by Petplan.

Trevor is an experienced lecturer who aims to make his talks both informative and entertaining - so even though the law on dogs can sound a bit dull his style of delivery is appreciated by audiences! He is often in demand for media comments on Doglaw issues and he maintains the websites www.doglaw.co.uk + www.DoglawSOS.co.uk.

Kate Richmond

Kate is a barrister and was called to the bar in 2011. She is developing a successful and varied practice across the full range of civil work at her chambers, 1 Crown Office Row. She accepts instructions in a broad range of common law matters and acts for a full range of clients including individuals, insurers, charities, finance companies and local authorities.

Kate has represented clients in civil cases involving dogs and her work has included claims under the Torts (Interference with Goods) Act 1977. Kate has also been involved in a successful appeal against a County Court order which concerned issues surrounding the validity of the contract and appropriate remedies.

Kate appears in Court on an almost daily basis and has developed strong advocacy skills as a result. Prior to joining her chambers Kate worked as a Court Advocate and "LawBrief" providing advocacy, advice and drafting services to small and medium sized enterprises in relation to contracts and other aspects.
